

Each party shall keep the terms of this deed confidential at all times.

Disclosure is permitted only where the law requires it, and then only to the extent so required.

Each party shall keep the terms of this deed confidential at all times.

Disclosure is permitted only where the law requires it, and then only to the extent so required.